Problem solving methods

Objectives

Using Python to solve complex problems

- Develop abstract data types
- Develop layered applications
- Implement backtracking algorithms

Requirements

Consider a list of persons identified by name and age.

1. Form groups of k persons having a different name

2. Form groups of k persons with the same name but different age